

Perspectives from the Middle East: Iraq and the Levant

Wednesday, April 5th 3:15-5:00 p.m.
Belk Library, Room 114

Two scholars that specialize on the Arab Middle East, will present their research on Arab experiences from Iraq, Syria, Jordan, and Lebanon in the context of contemporary questions on immigration, the war on terror, U.S. foreign policy, political economies of regime survival across the Levant, and the Arab uprisings of 2011.

Dr. Ziad Abu-Rish

Department of History
Ohio University

"The Levant Six Years
into the Arab Uprisings"

Dr. Zainab Saleh

Department of Anthropology
Haverford College

"Superfluous Nostalgics:
Longing for an Idealized Past
among Iraqis in London"

Sponsored by:

Department of Anthropology
Humanities Council
Department of History

Center for Judaic, Holocaust, and Peace Studies
Department of Government and Justice Studies
Department of Cultural, Gender, and Global Studies

College of Arts & Sciences